NPPD, Rurals Solve Dispute

... RATE SQUABBLE SETTLED

Kearney (P) — The Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) Friday resolved a four-year rate dispute with rural power districts.

President Lloyd Kain of NPPD and President James S. Clark of the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative, Inc., (G&T), along with top management officials, met in Kearney and signed documents Friday settling the old rate disputes between G&T members and the former Nebraska Public Power System.

NPPD said that as a result of the agreement previously contested wholesale power bills are satisfied. Two existing lawsuits, one in Platte County Court and one in York County, will be dismissed, and action pending before the Nebraska Power Review Board will be withdrawn.

The agreement, referred to as Supplement No. 2 to the Requirements Power Contract, clears the way for solid negotiations on long-term power commitments between G&T members and NPPD, NPPD officials said.

NPPD, successor in a reorganization to NPPS, came into being recently via a merger of Consumers Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

Last week in York, NPPD directors passed a resolution directing management and legal staff to hasten the settlement with the rural districts.

Friday's action in Kearney was the result.

A lawsuit is still pending in Platte County District Court, filed by the rurals, contesting the 1970 wholesale power rates. NPPD officials said the next step will be an attempt to solve this rate dispute.

Attending Friday's meeting, in addition to Kain and Clark, were NPPD assistant general managers Don Schaufelberger and Homer Loutzenheiser, as well as Dil Blatchford and Ken Olds of G&T, Howard Erickson of NPPD and Richard D. Wilson, NPPD's general counsel.

Students Volunteering Efforts

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Organized for action are some 30 high school-age students who are interested in volunteering their time and effort to serve the community.

The newly formed Youth Interest Corps has no particular allegiance to any one kind of project or group.

But the young men and women are making sure — before making commitments to serve — that the kind of assistance they can provide will be in the best interests of both the group or individuals served and the students themselves.

Interest Groups

The Youth Interest Corps grew out of the vocational interest groups set up as Explorers' Posts by the Cornhusker Council Boy Scouts, according to council executive Scott Agnew.

Following a vocational interest survey in the Lincoln high schools, a unit was formed for students who were thought to be planning a career in professional youth group leadership.

However, Agnew reported, when the students met for the first time, it was discovered that they had other career plans but were interested in performing community service projects at night and on weekends.

So the group was separated from the regular Exploring program and is not identified with it by name or function, Agnew said.

Projects Proposed

The youths started their volunteer work by proposing service projects at Cedars Home, the Malone Center and the Lincoln State Hospital and then invited leaders or representatives from each of the agencies to attend a Service Corps meeting.

The agency officials described their programs and discussed the requirements and ramifications of the proposed service projects at each.

One-time events or projects that groups fail to carry out usually do more harm than good, the youths were told.

Corps members later toured the State Hospital and, "alarmed at the depressive atmosphere of the physical environment," decided to volunteer to paint several rooms occupied by elderly patients, Agnew reported.

Hour Each Week

About a third of the students also go to the hospital to spend an hour each week with an elderly person, visiting, reading or playing cards and games, he said.

The same process of meeting with agency representatives and examining the long-term value of the group's proposed service projects will preface each one, according to Agnew, who added that the students are "pretty good at evaluating their own capabilities."

Newly elected officers of the Youth Interest Corps are Rita Kumm, president, who attends Lincoln High School, John McNeil, vice president, Don Hendricks, secretary, both of Southeast High School, and Barb Brauer, treasurer, also of Lincoln High.

Nixon Suggests Easing Of Reins

... IN ECONOMIC REPORT

The New York Times

Washington — President Nixon projected Friday a growth of the national economy by about $50 billion this year, with both less inflation and less "real" growth than in 1969.

In his first economic report to Congress, Nixon made clear his opposition to "overly long and overly severe restraint" in the monetary policy (money and credit) of the Federal Reserve Board. But he emphasized that this could be avoided only if Congress supports him in a "prudent" government fiscal (budget) policy, including a small budget surplus.

Budget $200.8 Billion

The economic report disclosed in a table that the budget, to be sent to Congress Monday, would show expenditures of $200.8 billion and receipts of $202.1 billion, for a surplus of $1.3 billion.

Later, at his news conference, the President said he still was confident that "the present rate of inflation ... will continue to decline" and that "we will be able to control inflation without recession." He repeated his policy of opposition to "jawboning," or presidential attempts to roll back individual prices.

The key to the economic strategy for the year, as laid out in the economic report by the President and his Council of Economic Advisers, was that another half year of little or no

Commission To Weigh Regulatory Overhaul

growth could and should be tolerated, but that "a moderately quicker pace later in the year would be consistent with continued progress in reducing inflation."

Because of the lags between government monetary and fiscal actions and their impact on total spending in the economy, the "path of the economy in the early part of 1970 is already largely determined," the economic report said. It continued:

"The policy problem for 1970 is to take actions in the first half of the year which will pace the economy on the sustainable path of moderately rising output and significantly declining inflation in the second half."

Easing Of Restraint

The implication, supported by other parts of the report, was that Federal Reserve monetary policy should now start moving toward "moderate" instead of "severe" restraint, so that growth in the economy could resume after midyear. But the report emphasized that "this does not mean a return to the rates of monetary expansion of 1967 and 1968."

The heart of the analysis by the Council of Economic Advisers of both policy and outlook — and the part likely to provoke most debate — was this:

After three full quarters of approximately zero real growth, the economy by midyear 1970 "would be producing significantly below its potential." This gap, showing up in excess plant and some excess labor, "places a downward pressure on the rate of inflation."

At that point, "businesses find themselves selling in markets less receptive to price increases," which "forces greater resistance to cost increases, including wage increases." And — the crucial point — "these pressures against inflation will continue if demand remains below potential output, even though demand begins to rise more rapidly."

This was the rationale for a strategy of permitting expansion to resume in the second half — a strategy evidently involving an early relaxation of monetary policy.

Unemployment Rise Risked

Both the President and the council conceded that "an unfortunate cost of having allowed the inflation to run for so long is that it courts the risk of some rise in unemployment." But the President said, "The policy of firm and persistent disinflation on which we have embarked holds out the best hope of keeping that risk low."

The report said a major reason for allowing expansion of the economy to resume in the second half of the year was "to avoid mounting unemployment."

The President and the council projected a gross national product, or total output of goods and services, for the year of $985 billion, compared with $932 billion in 1969. The council said it preferred to express the forecast as a range between $980 billion and $990 billion.

A figure of $985 billion, the report said, would amount to a rise in the GNP, in dollar terms, of 5.5% this year compared to 7.7% in 1969. It continued, without giving specific figures, "Part of this smaller GNP rise would be reflected in a smaller increase in real output. Part of it would be reflected in less inflation."

As for the main components of demand, the report made these projections:

—In business fixed investment, mainly in plant and equipment, the outlook is for "a strong further gain" of about eight per cent.

—Inventories, in general, do not "seem out of line" so far and thus "only a slight decline in inventory investment is expected in 1970."

—Housing starts will remain low in the first half but, thanks to easier credit conditions, "should respond favorably in the second half of the year."

—In state and local government, the "strong upward trend" in spending is expected to continue about as in the past though, like housing, the outlook is for more expansion in the second than in the first half.

—Federal government purchases of goods and services will decline by about $4.5 billion in 1970 from 1969, which is "a major factor in the projected reduction in the rate of inflation." The entire decrease is in defense.

—Although consumers are a "major source of uncertainty," the outlook is for a growth in their spending of about $40 billion in 1970. Given the prospects for consumer income, this figure implies slightly more saving than in 1969 out of each dollar of after-tax income, when it was 6 cents. The council predicted 6.5 to 7 cents.

President Seeks ABM Expansion

Washington (P) — In the major surprise of his news conference Friday, President Nixon announced he has decided to seek a major expansion of the bitterly disputed Safeguard antiballistic missile system — to defend American cities as well as offensive missile sites.

He said this is needed to defend against possible "nuclear blackmail" by a nation like Red China.

The ABM announcement — with details to be disclosed within 30 days — is certain to stir another angry debate in the Senate, which battled for weeks before narrowly approving the first installment of the system.

U.S. Would Retaliate

Nixon declared irreversible his policy of supplanting American combat forces in Vietnam with South Vietnamese troops — but said if the Communists step up the conflict, the United States will retaliate.

"We have the means, and I will be prepared to use the means," he said, "more strongly than in the past," Nixon said.

Nixon also: —Defended G. Harrold Carswell, the federal judge he chose to be a Supreme Court justice. "I believe Judge Carswell will be approved by the

Nursing Home Contract Signed

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County Commissioners Friday approved the contract with Colonial Homes, Inc. of Omaha, for operation of the former St. Elizabeth Hospital as Lancaster Manor.

Commissioner William Grossman said that the board felt immediate action had to be taken since officials of St. Elizabeth Community Health Center anticipate moving to the new hospital Feb. 23.

He said the county now has 28 welfare patients at the hospital and provisions for their care must be made immediately upon the hospital's moving.

The contract which consists of a management portion and a lease portion provides for the county to pay Colonial Homes beginning Feb. 1, $2,500 per month for the management direction of Lancaster Manor until the lease agreement becomes activated.

The lease agreement will become effective and be implemented when the patient occupancy of Lancaster Manor is stabilized at 150 patients and maintains that stability for approximately three months.

According to terms of the management portion of the contract which will remain in force until the lease agreement becomes effective, the county will provide all physical facilities and necessary equipment and supplies for the operation of a nursing home.

Lancaster County "shall provide and pay for all the expenses of operation, food, laundry, labor and all other operational expenses as may be required for the reasonable and efficient operation of a nursing home," the contract states.

Will Pay $282,750

Colonial Homes will, upon activation of the lease, pay to the county over a 20-year period $282,750 to be divided on a monthly basis.

This is the amount determined to be the value of the leased portion of the total hospital complex purchased by the county, the contract says. The county paid $530,000 for the complex.

The commissioners have not made a decision on the use of the old portion of the hospital complex nor for the nurses' residence but intend to use the old portion for "something compatible with the nursing home operation," according to Grossman.

Lancaster County, in the agreement, states that the facility will be open to all patients, county or private, with preference being given Lancaster County welfare recipients with provisions made for them before acceptance of private patients.

Patient rates in both parts of the contract will be determined by a point system with any changes requiring approval by both the county and Colonial Homes Inc.

According to the contract, the rates will, "of necessity, be subject to readjustment from time to time as the economic necessities may require and shall not exceed the maximum amount approved by the federal and state governments to assure the county of matching funds for the services."

Kirk Prohibits Forced Busing

Tallahassee, Fla. (P) — Gov. Claude Kirk Friday issued executive orders prohibiting forced busing by two Florida counties to implement federal court-ordered school desegregation plans.

Kirk's order said school officials who fail to comply with it will be subject to executive action.

Gerald Mager, the governor's legal aide, would not say that "executive action" means suspension. He said the meaning of the term will become apparent if and when school officials fail to comply with the order.

Squarely Between

The order leaves officials in Manatee and Volusia Counties caught squarely between courts that have ordered them to desegregate on April 6 and Feb. 1, respectively, said Kirk.

If officials in the two counties defy the courts, they could be held in contempt. If they defy the governor, it is possible that they will be suspended.

The executive order specifically prohibited changing the school calendar for pupils, incurring new expenses, taking any action that would result in massive reassignment of pupils and taking any action to close schools prior to the end of the school year.

NAACP Promises Action

The state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said NAACP attorneys would take immediate steps to have Kirk jailed for contempt of court if he tried to make his executive order stick.

"All the school boards that will heed the kind of vicious mandate that Kirk has issued, they too will be jailed," said the Rev. Joel Atkins of Winter Haven, Fla.

Volusia County is under orders from U.S. District Judge Charles R. Scott to transfer by Feb. 1 about 2,800 of 15,500 pupils and 145 of 1,700 teachers. School Supt. Raymond G. Dunne said the job would add about $200,000 to the school district's annual transportation costs.

U.S. District Judge Ben Krentzman ordered Manatee County to desegregate its schools by April 6. Supt. Jack L. Davidson said the order will involve "a rather sizable number" of the county's 17,800 students. He said his district is attempting to purchase new school buses needed for the job, but he is uncertain now he can obtain delivery of the buses by April 6.

Rail Unions Post Pickets In Nebraska

Omaha, Neb. (P) — Union pickets were posted at midnight Friday at the headquarters building of the Union Pacific Railroad in Omaha and in North Platte and Council Bluffs.

Earlier in Washington, a national railroad spokesman had said such an event would trigger a nation-wide railroad lockout.

A spokesman said the railroad's reaction wasn't immediately determined and would depend on whether pickets were posted elsewhere.

Soldiers' Wigs Cover 'Whitewall' Haircuts

Colorado Springs, Colo. (P) — Hundreds of soldiers from nearby Ft. Carson are buying and wearing wigs to hide their close-cropped GI haircuts when they go off the Army post, wig merchants report.

Owners of three wig stores said the soldiers are trying to cover up the "whitewall" haircuts ordered by Maj. Gen. Bernard W. Rogers, commander of the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division.

Two GE Unions Favor 88-Cent-An-Hour Hike

New York (AP) — General Electric Co.'s two largest unions agreed tentatively Friday to end a three-month strike on the basis of an 88 cents an hour wage boost over the life of a 40-month contract. Ten smaller unions were expected to go along with the billion-dollar pact.

As the contract won approval of the full negotiating committees of both unions and moved on its way toward rank-and-file review next week, one of GE's chief negotiators, John R. Baldwin, called it "inflationary, but not super-inflationary."

He said prices eventually will go up as a result on all GE products, from flashlight bulbs to jet engines.

The unions estimated at 7.5% per year the increase in wages and fringe benefits, for a total of 22.5 to 25% over-all.

Paychecks now based on a $3.25 an hour average wage would go up 88 cents an hour, and another 17 cents worth of fringe benefits would bring the total package to the level of $1.05 an hour.

The man who engineered the agreement, J. Curtis Counts, head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, predicted the 130,000 strikers would be back in GE's 280 plants within a week to 10 days, if the mechanics of formal approval go smoothly.

The proposed contract, costliest in the history of the nation's fourth largest industrial firm, included an unusual "to hell with it" clause — granting limited extra days off to employees who decide on the spur of the moment that they don't feel like working.

The 95-day strike was spearheaded by the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and the independent United Electrical Workers, which represent 89,000 and 16,000 GE employees respectively.

Heads of both unions said they were recommending acceptance of the tentative contract.

Over the 40-month period of the contract, production workers would receive 53 cents an hour in wage boosts, 21 cents an hour in cost of living provisions, 4 cents an hour for special skills, and gain an additional 10 cents through increased employer insurance contributions, sick leave, vacations and the like.

Fringe benefits not reflected in take-home pay, such as pensions, hospitalization and others, would add 17 cents to the package.

The tentative agreement also provided for two additional paid sick leave days per year after five years, and five days after 25 years — the so-called "to hell with it" clause.

The unions struck last Oct. 26 in a demand for a 90 cents an hour wage boost over a 30-month contract period, plus up to 50 cents an hour more for special skills.

STRIKE 'WORTH IT'

Edward Gries, a General Electric crane operator, was talking about the strike shortly before a tentative contract agreement was announced. The Schenectady, N.Y., worker said, "It was worth it. It was do or die." Counting sitdowns and walkouts, Gries has been involved in 21 strikes in his 22 years at GE.

Nixon To Claim Defense Cut In $200.8 Billion Budget

Washington (AP) — The White House said Friday that President Nixon "has achieved a budget of $200.8 billion" for the fiscal year starting July 1.

This is $3 billion more than the estimated spending total of $197.8 billion for the current 12 months ending June 30, but the President is counting on a $1.3-billion surplus in his new budget.

Major economies he will claim in his budget message to Congress Monday noon will include a $5.8-billion cut in defense spending, now running at an annual rate of $79.4 billion.

The President also will propose major cuts in expenditures for space, agriculture and veterans benefits, but an increase in spending on health programs.

The figures were confirmed by press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler after they appeared in Friday morning's Washington Post.

Ziegler told reporters that Nixon's 1971 spending blueprint can be considered a solid, balanced budget which has "taken into account the need for restraint in federal spending in today's economy."

"It is responsive to national needs," Ziegler said, "while keeping in mind that a major priority facing the country is a healthy economy."

He said projected expenditures for the coming year were held to $200.8 billion through "a series of substantial economies."

Among major economies are a $486-million cut in the coming year's space program, leaving it with a budget of $3.4 billion, and a $949-million reduction in agriculture programs, now budgeted for $5.4 billion.

Health expenditures are budgeted at $14.9 billion, an increase of nearly $1.7 billion, and a $6.5-billion increase, to $50.4 billion, is proposed for income security programs, including Social Security.

2 Killed As 2,000 Riot In Manila

The New York Times

Manila—Some 2,000 students and young people, hoisting revolutionary placards and upside-down Philippine flags, tried

Friday night to storm into the grounds of the presidential palace and battled with policemen into the morning.

Two students were killed by gunfire and 102 were wounded.

'No' Said To Appeal To Delay Rail Strike

Washington (AP) — Labor Secretary George P. Shultz appealed to railroad union and industry leaders Friday to delay a threatened nationwide rail shutdown, but a union official said "As of right now, no."

"It's our move and the only one left is to contemplate strike action," said Vice President William W. Wimpisinger of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists.

"I could change my mind in the next hour," he added.

The chief industry negotiator, John P. Hiltz, said, "If any of the four shopcraft unions should strike any one or a combination of railroads — after they have rejected what their own leaders called a 'generous' settlement — we will be forced to discontinue rail service throughout the country."

Schultz asked both sides for a seven-day no-strike, no-lockout pledge and to resume efforts to settle the dispute over wages and working conditions. He said the nation could not stand for a nationwide rail shutdown.

"If there is a nationwide shutdown it will be their responsibility," Wimpisinger said of the industry's lockout threat.

300 In Lincoln Could Be Affected

A railroad strike, if called by shopcraft unions currently in contract dispute with the nation's railroads, could affect about 300 union members in Lincoln.

Burlington Railroad officials said there are 305 employees in the railroad's Lincoln and Havelock shops who belong to the four unions involved.

Most Domestic Air Fares Cut 6.35% By CAB Order

The New York Times

New York — The Civil Aeronautics Board ordered a 6.35% roll-back in most domestic air fares today after the nation's nine largest domestic airlines rejected a new fare-splitting plan proposed by the CAB.

The fare drop will be effective Feb. 1 unless the airlines and the CAB reach agreement Saturday. Most airline officials were predicting that they would not change their minds.

The airlines affected by the rollback are American, Continental, Delta, Eastern, National, Northeast, Northwest, Trans World and United.

Last September, the CAB authorized the airlines to increase fares an average of 6.35% after the industry had complained of falling earnings.

But at the time, the CAB said that it would rescind the increases on Feb. 1 unless, by then, the industry had developed a plan to divide fares when a passenger buys a single ticket for travel on a major trunk airline and a smaller connecting line.

The CAB said Thursday that because the airlines had not developed a plan, it would impose a formula for sharing the fares that had been originally suggested by Mohawk Airlines, one of the short-haul carriers. The CAB said then that if the airlines did not accept this scheme it would cancel the fare increase that it had granted last September and had become effective Oct. 1.

Police arrested about 100 young people. Seven vehicles, including two fire trucks and a bus, were burned in what was viewed as the worst peacetime rioting in the memory of Manila citizens.

Policemen and soldiers, responding to rocks, slingshots and gasoline bombs used by the demonstrators, fired rifles and tear-gas grenades and employed rifle butts, fire hoses, nightsticks and heavy batons and protected themselves with wicker shields.

The rioting was an outgrowth of protests over the voting last November in which President Ferdinand E. Marcos was overwhelmingly re-elected despite his critics' charges of fraud.

Newspaper Bill Passed

Washington (AP) — The Senate voted Friday to exempt financially ailing newspapers from antitrust laws and to allow them to use a more lenient test of ill health than other businesses.

By a 63-14 vote the measure was sent to the House where the prospect for early action appears doubtful.

Under the bill, newspapers in "probable danger of failing" would be allowed to combine production, advertising and circulation operations with a successful newspaper in the same location while maintaining separate news and editorial staffs and policies.

By requiring that newspapers prove only probable danger of collapse, the measure would overturn court decisions that have held newspapers must be on the very brink of bankruptcy like other businesses seeking to pool operations. Immediate effect of the bill would be to permit continued operation of combination newspapers in 22 cities, including Tucson, Ariz., where a Justice Department suit five years ago began the legal and legislative controversy resulting in the current bill.

Bomber Attacks Stepped Up; Antiaircraft Fire Intensified

Saigon (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers and B52 strategic bombers have stepped up attacks recently on the Laotian side of the Mu Gia Pass area and have run into more intense North Vietnamese antiaircraft fire and surface to air missiles (SAM), official sources said Friday.

The informants would not disclose how many new antiaircraft and SAM sites have been located. They said they did not want North Vietnam to know the effectiveness of U.S. aerial reconnaissance.

The Mu Gia Pass runs across the North Vietnamese border into Laos. Supplies and men are sent south from the pass along the Ho Chi Minh Trail in eastern Laos to South Vietnam. The bombing attacks in the pass area in Laos and along the trail are designed to slow the increasing enemy traffic.

Search Called Off

The disclosure that Mu Gia air defenses have been beefed up was made after the U.S. Command confirmed that an American F105 fighter-bomber and a rescue helicopter were shot down Wednesday by North Vietnamese forces in the Mu Gia Pass region. All eight crewmen aboard the two American aircraft are reported missing and a search for them has been called off.

Several SAMs were fired at an Air Force RF4C reconnaissance jet apparently trying to photograph new SAM sites 12 miles northeast of the pass, touching off the action.

The photo plane was not hit. Air Force F4 and F105 fighter-bombers escorting the reconnaissance plane attacked the missile launching site, and an F105 with two crewmen aboard was shot down by antiaircraft fire.

Nearly two hours later, an Air Force rescue helicopter with six crewmen aboard looking for the downed crewmen was shot down by an air-to-air missile fired from a North Vietnamese MIG 21.

9 Since Bombing Halt

In Washington, the Pentagon reported nine U.S. aircraft have been shot down over North Vietnam since former President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered the bombing halted 15 months ago.

Five were reconnaissance planes, three were fighter jets and one was a rescue helicopter.

Johnson had said reconnaissance flights would be continued and that the unarmed planes would be escorted by fighter planes who would fire back if attacked.

Blast Victims Returned To IBP Few Days Ago

... Their Home, Two Others Damaged By Dynamite

South Sioux City (P) — A young couple who had been on strike against Iowa Beef Packers at Dakota City since last August crossed the picket lines and went back to work this week, saying they could not make ends meet financially.

Friday, the couple — Mr. and Mrs. David Beldin of South Sioux City — were awakened about 4:30 a.m. by a dynamite blast which shattered two front windows of their bungalow-type home, blew a hole in the cement block foundation and broke windows in two neighboring houses.

Both Beldins plan to return to work at the IBP plant Saturday, they said. "It'll take more than a dynamiting to stop me," Beldin told a Sioux City Journal staff writer. "All this did was make me mad."

No one was injured in the blast, which also damaged windows in the Leland Curry residence across the street and the Dick Lehmkuh home behind the Beldin home.

Beldin, 20, walked out with the union when the long and bitter strike began, and had been picketing weekly since. He returned to work at IBP Jan. 23. His wife, 22, who took a pregnancy leave in April, also had been picketing and returned to the plant this Wednesday.

The couple's first child, William Lewis, was born Aug. 24, the day the strike began.

Followed Home

According to the Beldins, they were followed home from work Wednesday afternoon and Thursday afternoon.

During the 24-week strike, Beldin worked on a construction job with a Sioux City, Iowa, firm. The job was discontinued recently due to weather. Mrs. Beldin worked in the poultry division at Swift and Co. in Sioux City until December, when poultry operations closed for six months.

Homes of two other union members who returned to work at IBP also were dynamited recently. The residences of Richard Law of Sioux City, Iowa, and Kenneth English of South Sioux City were hit by dynamite Jan. 17.

Restraining Order Preventing Buffalo Reappraisal Hearing

Kearney (P) — District Judge S.S. Sidner issued a temporary restraining order against the state tax commissioner's office to prevent an approval hearing on property reappraisal in Buffalo County.

The restraining order prevents the tax commissioner from conducting the hearing until the court is shown that the appraisal is complete and the county board has had an opportunity to review the appraisals.

The action was filed by the Committee for Action on Rural and Urban Taxation, Inc., to enjoin state and county officials from using the reappraisal figures being prepared by the Justin Haynes & Co., Inc., of Denver.

Officials of the company said they plan to complete the reappraisal by Feb. 15.

The committee has contended the valuation of land and improvements by the company is arbitrary and unreasonable and done by inexperienced personnel.

Judge Sidney took under advisement a motion by Buffalo County that Justin Haynes & Co., Inc., be included as a defendant in the case.

Other defendants are the Buffalo County Board, the state of Nebraska, State Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil and the Buffalo County treasurer and assessor.

LAST RITES . . . for Sen. Danner as his casket is carried from church.

High Tribute Paid To Sen. Danner

Omaha (P) — About 500 Omahans joined Gov. Norbert Tiemann and Mayor Eugene Leahy Friday to pay final respects to State Sen. Edward R. Danner, the Legislature's only Negro member.

"His efforts have not only benefitted the black Nebraskan, but have also served to make the white Nebraskan aware of the needs of his black brothers," the governor said in a short address at Zion Baptist Church, where Sen. Danner was a deacon for 35 years.

The senator died Monday after collapsing at a downtown parking lot. He was 69.

"His dedication to the cause of civil rights legislation in this state is well known," Tiemann said. "He was a true American — and I believe no greater tribute can be paid any man," the governor declared.

Church Filled

The mourners, most of them Negroes but with a number of whites among them, filled the church. Flower sprays surrounded the casket.

"We're not here because somebody died, but because somebody lived," said the Rev. J. C. Wade, pastor of Salem Baptist Church. "Sen. Danner served his generation well."

The Rev. R. E. McNair, pastor of Zion Baptist Church, said the senator best could be described in terms of "honesty and humility."

"We were all his people," said Wilbur Phillips, an attorney in Danner's district. "In a real sense he was not confined to us. Whether black or white, rich or poor, he was truly soul brother No. 1."

Army Engineers Budget $20,000 For Loup River Basin Investigation

Washington (P) — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has budgeted $20,000 to make a general investigation of the entire Loup River basin in Nebraska, including about 50 miles from the Loup River's junction with the Platte River near Columbus, Neb., Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., announced.

Martin said he was informed by the corps that a special investigation is being started of a flood erosion threat on the Loup River near Palmer, which a corps spokesman said is endangering the county road and a bridge approach.

The congressman said the investigation is being made under the Flood Control Act of 1946 and was requested by Nance County officials.

It is the second specific investigation along the Loup River in three months by the Omaha office of the Corps.

Last November, an investigation was made 10 miles northwest of Columbus of lowland areas along the river.

Construction is scheduled to begin by the corps next summer of a five-and-a-half mile flood protection levy along the river near Columbus.

'Lion In Winter' Performance Of Playhouse Actors Praised

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

A full-house audience witnessed superb acting on the part of the entire cast Friday night for the opening production of James Goldman's "The Lion In Winter," at the Lincoln Community Playhouse.

With acting nothing less than professional, top honors go to Playhouse veteran Jan Healey for her portrayal of Eleanor, wife of Henry II and mother of his three sons aspiring to the throne.

Nude Romper And Girl Friend Draw Sentences

Berkeley, Calif. (UPI)—Municipal Judge Mario Barsotti has pronounced sentence on Reginald Gulick, 21, and Della Striker, 19.

They were found guilty of lewd exposure for playing frisbee in the nude at the University of California's faculty glade.

The young man was ordered to spend 10 days planting trees for the city. The Young Lady will spend 10 days sewing clothes for the needy at a church volunteer bureau.

In her debut appearance on the playhouse stage, Yvonne McCord was delightful in her role as the pretty mistress.

The three sons, each of whom was excellent in his particular individual role, were portrayed by Sam Ridge, Lee Schoonover and Rod McCullough.

Also doing an excellent job was Tony Brehm, in his portrayal of Philip, around whom much of the decision for heir to the throne centers.

The cast was completed by Steve McBride and Paul Ritscher who portrayed the attendants in the scene at Henry's Castle in the year, 1183.

The production, directed by John R. Wilson, will run Saturday, and the weekends of Feb. 6-8, 13-15 and Feb. 20 and 21.

Vatican Cardinal Says No Easing Of Marriage Ban

Vatican City (P) — A leading Vatican cardinal said Friday there would be no loosening of the ban on marriage for Roman Catholic priests. He criticized Dutch bishops and priests for their liberal approach to the issue of celibacy.

In an article in the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, France's Jean Cardinal Danielou accused Dutch liberals of trying to belittle the papal authority and of exploiting the celibacy issue.

It was the first time the Vatican openly attacked the Dutch bishops since they voiced support for a national assembly of priests and lay people who recommended that priests be allowed to marry.

The cardinal's article dealt a blow to clerics who had hoped that the cautious attitude the Vatican showed in the past few weeks might mean a willingness to give some consideration to the Dutch recommendations.

'No Time For Thorough Investigations—
We're In A Hurry Now'

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER
Evidence of how far we have come in our acceptance of non-discrimination is seen in the lack of controversy over the proposed open housing law, affecting the selling and rental of nearly all housing.

It affects, as well, all realty business and all home lending institutions. Not only can a realtor not take part in any kind of discrimination in his transactions, but the industry itself cannot discriminate against anyone in hiring practices on the basis of race, religion or national origin.

The only exception in the whole thing is an individual who lives in a home in which he also rents out sleeping rooms. The ordinance does not apply in such cases so long as no more than four sleeping rooms are rented.

The Human Rights Commission has a great deal of authority. It can issue subpoenas, it has access at all "reasonable times" to any premises, records or documents it wants, can administer oaths and do other things. It can, therefore, demand entry to any private property.

It could demand your federal income tax returns if it wanted to determine something such as total rental income for a year on a certain piece of property. It could summon you to appear before it and place you under oath for the purpose of testifying, even testifying against yourself.

Nor are the various penalty provisions of the new ordinance to be sneezed at. Penalties involved are classed as misdemeanors but carry a maximum, upon conviction, of $500 fine and or six months in jail.

Obviously, one could object to all this if he so desired. The ordinance currently is strong in establishing the fact that little information can be given out by the commission which would enforce the ordinance.

Thus, any commission member or commission staff could abuse the powers that are given to it. It could harass property owners and the owners and operators of lending institutions and other public accommodations included in the ban against discrimination.

But to consider this aspect of things fairly, one must look at the alternatives. Without authority there can be no action and with authority, also, comes responsibility.

If the Human Rights Commission of the city is to do the job in elimination of discrimination that all of us want done, it has to have the authority to carry out an investigation of the complaints that are made against it.

The safety of the public, the protection of the public against abuse, is found in two areas. One, the commission could not for long take an abusive attitude without public complaints being made about it.

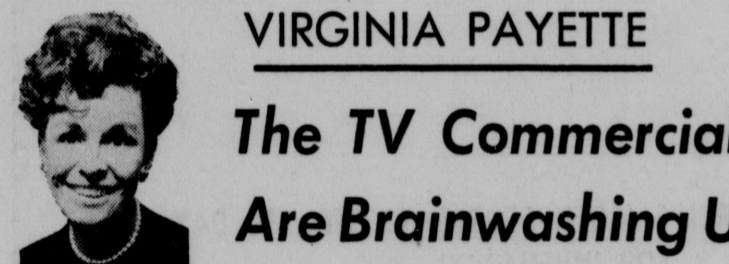

Secondly, any law that is made can also be changed. If the open housing law proves to have weaknesses in any areas, it can be amended. Any law stands only so long as it satisfies the wishes and desires of a majority of the people.

Perhaps objections will yet be made to the new city open housing law. But it is significant to note that even the proposal of such a law would have been all but out of the question 10 years ago.

We might remind ourselves, too, that passage of the law does not mean the automatic end of discrimination. Certainly, some people will try to ignore the law or to get around it. And a lot of responsibility rests with the commission, the exercise of which will determine the final effectiveness of the new legislation.

But it is obvious just the same that a new day has dawned in the area of civil rights. You could talk about equality in times gone past but you just couldn't make reality out of it.

What we have done to date we have largely done by law, which refutes somewhat the often repeated adage that you can't legislate morality. But hopefully, we are moving to the point where the morality we have legislated in civil rights becomes a matter of conscience and conviction in the times ahead.

VIRGINIA PAYETTE
The TV Commercials
Are Brainwashing Us

NEW YORK — Did it ever cross your mind that soap is good for something besides guaranteeing you a fascinating love life? Or that mouthwashes sometimes accomplish more than making you the life of every orgy?

It probably didn't if you believe everything you hear on television commercials. And one government official thinks it's time the advertising boys did something about it.

Because the way things are now, according to Miss Mary Gardiner Jones, a member of the Federal Trade Commission, too many glib folks build impossible fantasies on what those TV sponsors tell their products will do for you.

"Instant sex appeal" is what these fellows are selling — and the jingling of cash registers around the country proves people are buying.

Not just any soap, which will get you clean and keep you healthy. But that "special" soap the man talked about last night on TV. The man who guaranteed you your heart's desire after one bath, the man who had you sinking out of the room in fear of your own personal daintiness.

It's commercials like this that bug Miss Jones. And she offered up her objections at a recent meeting of the Trade Regulation Roundtable of the Association of American Law Schools.

"Advertising messages," she said, "tend to convey a single, overly simplistic and, I believe in some instances, distorted answer to the needs and ambitions, fantasy yearnings and fears, the hopes and inadequacies of the complex individuals who make up American society."

If you should ask me, she's casting these pearls of wisdom before the wrong people. The men who need to hear her protests are the ones up there on Madison Avenue who insult our intelligence with their slick

Cinderella pitches. They would have you believe that no problem in your life could fail to be solved overnight if you would but use their under-arm deodorant... gargle with their mint-smelling goo... or splash yourself with their come-hither lotion.

The sad thing is, the pitch works. I know men who still get a faraway look in their eyes when they remember how they rushed out and bought what that wiggly brunette on the bearskin rug promised would make them irresistible. (To her, anyway. Trouble is, they never got a chance to prove it.)

Nobody knows for sure how many adolescent inferiority complexes come from years of being told their faces were too bumpy, their teeth weren't white enough, their hair was long on kid stuff and short on protein, and they weren't drinking the manly beer, either.

Wouldn't it be something if it turned out that's why young people dropped out completely and grew beards to cover the bumps, let their hair grow long and straggly, and retreated into the pluperfect fantasy world — of drugs, where nobody much cares what you look, feel, smell or act like — as long as it isn't good.

Miss Jones says she is not one to advocate FTC regulation to force commercials to be more down-to-earth. But she does say there are those in the government who are questioning the "social and cultural overtones" of some of the spiels.

Sooner or later we have to face up to the sad fact they haven't yet invented the product that will make us gorgeous overnight... get the rent paid on time... soothe all our anxieties... guarantee us charming mates... and shape up the coming generation.

But you sure can't tell that from commercials.

Curtis Looks Ahead

Earlier this week, former Congressman Clair Callan of Odell called upon Nebraska's congressional delegation to make public what they want for an agricultural program and start the fight for it right now — rather than "waiting and then telling us how hard they tried."

Callan, a one-term representative from the First District who is considering running again this year, took note that Republican Senators Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis and Reps. Glenn Cunningham of the Second District and Dave Martin of the Third all voted against the 1965 farm act which expires this year and that he alone in the Nebraska congressional delegation voted for it.

Sen. Curtis, in Omaha Thursday to discuss "Agriculture in the 70's" at the 13th annual Nebraska Agricultural Exposition, coincidentally replied to Callan's call by propounding in general terms what it will take to make agriculture a healthy and competitive factor in the nation's economy.

A Startling Potential

The proposal for establishment at the former Lincoln Air Force Base of an industrial-educational complex is a startling one. Indeed, some will say that it is pie in the sky, that it can never be accomplished. It does have an element of dreaming in it but dreams are the things of which many great accomplishments are made.

Vision, perhaps, is a better word than dream to describe the air base proposal. That proposal seeks to capitalize upon the growing sophistication or technology of business, industry and education. It seeks to make Lincoln the Wall Street of the future in the field of education.

With the realization of that vision, Lincoln would be an educational authority in teaching methods and tools. Additionally, it would be a technological training ground for young men

MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — As President Nixon looks over the first year records of his term, he must pause at the copy book of his former law partner, his good friend and his attorney general, John N. Mitchell. The Mitchell copy book is badly blotted.

The record shows that Mitchell has caused his chief more embarrassment than any other member of the cabinet. Nowhere is this more evident than in the controversy over the President's two nominees to the Supreme Court. As the dispute over the fitness of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. to be elevated to the highest court grew in intensity with revelation of his stock holdings and his directorships, Mitchell repeatedly affirmed his belief in the nominee. Difficult if not impossible to understand is why the investigation into Haynsworth's past fell so short that revelation after revelation by opponents eroded away his credibility as a judge without conflict of interest in the marketplace. That conflict may have seemed minor and even irrelevant to Mitchell, the corporation lawyer, the skilled specialist in the bond market. But the revelations contradicting the attorney general's assurance of a complete and thorough inquiry swung the balance against Haynsworth.

Now the same circumstance has arisen with the nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell to the high court. The fact that the Justice Department's investigation did not come up with the text of the white supremacy speech he gave in a political campaign when he was 28 years old seems incredible. If it had been faced up to with frankness at the time the nomination was first made, the sting would have been taken out. A little candor might have gone a long way.

But the white supremacy speech — emphatically rejected by Judge Carswell after its disclosure — has put civil rights groups on the attack. It had been assumed that, after the Haynsworth fight and his rejection by the Senate, the Carswell nomination would go through with ease. That may still be the case, with the "in-discretion" of a political campaign forgiven. Yet given extended hearings, frustrating any attempt in the Judiciary Committee to railroad the nomination through in a day or two, Carswell may face the same ordeal as Haynsworth and Justice Abe Fortas before him.

The committee has an obligation beyond the fate of the individual to examine the kind of investigation conducted by the Justice Department and why it failed in two instances to turn up vital information. What of Carswell's record in his 11 years as a federal district judge prior to his elevation to

FREDERICK M. JONES

They Had A Dream

Refrigerated trucks and railway cars daily crisscross the nation, hauling all manner of fresh foods for the American dinner table.

Few people know this was made possible by a Negro named Frederick McKinley Jones.

Before Jones put his wizardry to work, perishable foods were shipped packed in ice or in vehicles cooled by ice. On long hauls, any delay was disastrous.

In 1935, Jones invented the first automatic refrigeration system for long-haul trucks. Later it was adapted to a variety of other carriers, including ships and railway cars.

The invention eliminated the problem of spoilage. It revolutionized the eating habits of America.

Born in Cincinnati in 1892, Jones was orphaned at the age of nine and never managed to get more than a sixth-grade education.

Taken in by a kindly priest in Covington, Ky., Jones remained with him until he was 16, earning his keep by cooking and doing odd jobs around the rectory.

In 1908, the youth took a job setting pins in a bowling alley and from that switched to a job as mechanic's helper in a Cincinnati garage.

He became garage foreman, then quit to work as chief mechanic on a 30,000-acre Minnesota farm.

Jones served in France in World War I and after the war returned to the farm. As a hobby he designed racing cars which he raced on the dirt track circuit.

In the late twenties, his mechanical fame spread when he invented a series of devices to adapt silent movie projectors to talkies. His first device cost $100 and was superior to the $3,000 commercial model.

Jones was hired by a movie supply firm in Minneapolis. A boast by his employer during a golf game with some friends led to Jones' invention of the refrigeration system for trucks.

One of the men in the game was a trucker who had just had a truckload of poultry spoil. Jones' employer said his firm could develop a refrigeration system to avoid that kind of problem. His friend took him up on the offer.

The Family Unit

Lincoln, Neb.

It seems that this nation has placed education at the top of the totem pole as a sacred "no-no," no limits, no criticism, no inspections for performance.

Just label it "education" and pass any legislation for any amount of money and no one should dare suggest there might be other better routes to follow. I am not anti-education but I do think that when a national education association boasts in its journal that within five years it will have the most powerful lobby in any legislative assembly, it is time someone takes a critical view of the goals and the means used to achieve these goals.

There are thousands of "pushed-outs," thousands of "drop-outs," and thousands of "in-school drop-outs" who are totally ignored and not wanted by the educational promoters.

The public school curriculum and structure are for the conforming academic student and for the administrators of the educational system.

There is very little mention of the fact that there is already a large surplus of qualified, and able teachers who cannot find teaching positions. Yet teachers' salaries are continuing to climb. There are also no requests being made to maintain the present salaries but to lower the teacher-pupil ratio and give added help and services to the students.

In my opinion, this nation needs to de-emphasize institutional programs and give more aid to maintaining the basic unit of our society, the family. There should be an all-out effort to educate the adult population, to aid in family relations; adequate homes should be available and every effort and dollar should be made available to keep the family unit as the basic social, educational and religious center of our society.

There is no "generation gap." There is only a "power struggle" to see which segment of our population can dominate the rest of the population. Organized religion seems to have failed, politics has failed, education has not proved to be the only complete answer, and so it seems we should try the grass-roots approach and return to the "family unit" with a plan for the "young, old and in-betweeners." Let's start putting our dollars where they will really help, criticize when we should criticize and veto when needed.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed. Reed

The Van Alstyne verdict is not surprising in view of his record as a moderate Southern liberal and his connection with the American Civil Liberties Union. What makes the finding exceptional indeed is that Van Alstyne supported Haynsworth. He submitted a statement to the Judiciary Committee urging Haynsworth's confirmation.

Recognizing Haynsworth's conservative viewpoint, he found him to be distinguished in the law. Certain of his opinions were outstanding, especially in criminal procedure, and with a true judicial temperament, he belonged on the Supreme Court. The charges raised against him were minor, in Van Alstyne's view. He is asking to be heard in opposition to Carswell.

Mitchell bears a heavy responsibility in both these instances.

Jones put together a refrigeration unit from junk parts and mounted it on the truck cab. It did the job. He and his employer then formed a company to manufacture the device. Jones became vice president.

The unit was later used in the transportation of rocket fuel and frozen foods. Later Jones developed an air-conditioning unit for military field hospitals, a portable X-ray machine and a refrigerator for military field kitchens.

when he was campaigning in '68 was, in effect, to be strong on education and in his State of the Union message, he very fluently signed his veto the health and education bill with that "I am the president of the United States" attitude.

When he and Mr. Kennedy were debating in 1960, he stated that he was strongly in favor of education. Whereupon, Mr. Kennedy asked him why he vetoed against the education bill when there was a tie vote. Mr. Nixon's being the vice president, it was his duty to break the tie. He did — and voted against the bill. In his State of the Union address, he promised to take care of domestic matters.

Not very trustworthy, I would say. It is clear to me that he is expending more effort toward the '72 election than on world affairs. The poor and middle class should know now where Nixon stands with the big-money boys.

Bad Crossings

Martell, Neb.

In regard to the railroad crossings at Rokeby, Nebraska, we are wondering why they haven't responded to our problem.

We have been asking for several months to have excess rubbish removed from Crossing No. 1; also for a signal light at Crossing No. 1, as it is a school crossing.

We have had requests in regarding three bad crossings out here at Rokeby and vicinity requests to have something done to make them safe. At the main crossing at Rokeby, as the situation is now, coming from the east, a driver can't see the track to the north at all until he is right on the track.

At Crossing No. 1, the school crossing, we really need something done, but we are anxious to have something done at all three crossings.

Son Persuades Parents To Buy New Car And Take Extended Trip

By ROBERT PETERSON

Occasionally retirees tell me their children discourage them from spending extra funds they've accumulated during working years. The offspring claim travel is too arduous for elders and that they are better off at home. They say it's foolish for them to redecorate their homes or buy new wardrobes at their age. And they put up a howl when old folks want to contribute to some cause which interests them.

The demon at work in such cases is the youthful and greedy realization that the more aged parents spend, the less will remain for the beneficiaries.

But there are other kinds of children, too, as I learned in talking with a retired couple in a Los Angeles hotel lobby. The old gentleman said he was 71 and had run a small wholesale grocery business in Wilmington, Del. When he retired neither he nor his wife had been west of the Mississippi. They had led quiet, thrifty lives and planned to preserve the nest egg they had accumulated for their son.

But when their son caught wind of this he came for a weekend visit and insisted they forget about him and start enjoying the fruits of their labors. He prodded them into trading in their old car on a brand new automobile. He laid out a two-month motor trip for them which included visits to the country's leading attractions and cities with stops at the best hotels. And he talked them into buying new wardrobes and the first movie camera they'd ever owned.

"He's in his early 40s," said the father proudly, "and things aren't too easy for him in the shoe business. But he insists we spend our extra funds on ourselves and forget about leaving him a nickel. And I must say, the missus and I have been enjoying ourselves. Don't you agree we're lucky to have a son like ours?" I agreed emphatically.

Considerable response ensued when this column printed a letter from a young man who is peeved because his parents, who spent their $4,000 retirement nestegg on his college education, have advised that they'd like him to repay the sum now that he's married and settled in a good job. My comment was that the parents presented an entirely reasonable request considering that they were now retired and lacked sufficient income to meet needs.

One reader writes, "Please follow this up, for we are anxious to know if we have a big untapped gold mine. We sent five children through college and it never occurred to us that they should repay us. Let's see — that would come to about $20,000. Should we go to court and collect?"

It's my feeling that parents should do what they can to finance higher educations for their children, but they should not impoverish themselves in the process. If parents are in lower economic brackets, children should (a) try to work their way through college, or (b) accept parental help only with the understanding that they will try to make repayment so Mom and Dad will not be deprived of funds needed for their security in old age.

10% Fare Hike Approved For Most Bus Lines

Most bus lines operating in Nebraska have been authorized to increase their intrastate passenger fares by 10%, effective Feb. 16, the State Railway Commission reported Friday.

Intrastate fares apply to trips within the state, rather than across state lines.

The application for a fare hike was made by the National Bus Traffic Association, Inc., for and on behalf of its member carriers.

A Railway Commission source said the association represents most bus lines in Nebraska, including Greyhound and Continental Trailways.

The commission's minutes show only Commissioner James F. Munnely of Omaha voted against the authorization.

Commission To Weigh Overhaul Of Financial, Regulatory Setups

©The New York Times

Washington — The administration said Friday that a presidential commission charged with "a thorough examination of needed changes in our financial institutions and regulatory structure" would be appointed shortly.

The announcement, in the Nixon administration's first annual economic report, reflected the administration's intention of reducing and revising the role of the government in the economy, a view that ran through the report and was highlighted in one chapter.

The report indicated that the administration was taking a cautious attitude toward government regulation of the standards of safety and quality in consumer products and it set out a three-point farm policy that emphasized market forces.

In the chapter entitled "Government and the Market," the administration contended that "many people have become disenchanted with the effects of the government's participation in economic life."

"We rely upon the government to do more than ever before," the report said, "but we grow less and less confident that its responsibilities placed upon it are the most effective."

Noting that "an economic system cannot, however, operate in a vacuum," the administration said that "government must establish the necessary framework for economic activity if our free and open economy is to keep its responsive and effective character."

The report said additional rules "have become necessary as our economy and our society have become increasingly complex." But, it added: "Just as new rules have become necessary, old rules become obsolete and hamper our efforts to realize the capability of the economy."

The report said basic reforms in financial regulations were needed. It said that "regulations devised for an earlier economic environment can stifle innovations and new developments in today's market."

House officials, and informed sources said officials now hope to get it delivered to Capitol Hill next week.

More Precise Way To Decide Priorities Sought

©The New York Times

By EILEEN SHANAHAN

Washington — An attempt by the government to create a new and more scientifically exact framework for deciding what the nation can and cannot afford to do was disclosed by President Nixon Friday in his economic message to Congress.

In the process, Nixon also proclaimed a new standard against which to measure the proper size of the federal budget or, more precisely, of the budgetary surplus or deficit.

"If we are to improve the quality of life in this nation, we must first improve the quality of debate about our national priorities," Nixon said.

Long-Range Projections
The President's economic message and the more detailed report provided by his Council of Economic Advisers contained, therefore, some long-range projections of the probable size of the nation's total output in each year through 1975 — and the manner in which that output was likely to be split up among different sectors of the economy.

Projections such as this have not been made in previous economic messages.

What the projections showed, in brief, was that even with a strongly and consistently growing economy, there would be no excess of economic resources with which to fulfill new demands until 1973. The surplus of economic potential over claims on the use of economic resources that would begin to show up in 1973 would, even then, be relatively small.

The analysis of the potential output of the economy and the competing claims on that output did not relate simply to the allocation of federal tax dollars among various federal programs.

Priorities In Total Economy
Rather — and this was what was novel about this portion of the economic report — the analysis attempted to deal with the issue of priorities in the entire national economy. Thus the growing demands for consumer spending were set, side by side, with the growing spending of, say, state and local governments, as well as business and the federal government.

Neither the President's message nor the council's analysis attempted except in very limited and indirect ways, to answer the question of how the national output should be divided among various sectors and activities.

People have different values and standards and will disagree about this, the report noted.

The analysis was intended to provide the framework in which decisions concerning priorities could be made — in the President's words to "add a new realism to the management of our economic policies . . . to increase public awareness of long-range trends and the consequences for future years of decisions taken now."

One Firm Conclusion
The analysis did reach one firm conclusion, however, the government needs to adopt a new standard against which to test its budgetary policy, because unbalanced budgets, with the financial claims they make upon the whole economy, reduce the financial resources available to investment in productive facilities — new machinery for business, for example — and for house-construction.

Thus, the analysis said, a decision should be made in advance concerning the size of budget surplus that is desired over some long-term period — how long was not specified.

"The long-run average size of the surplus or deficit should be determined by the amount of savings it is desired to make available for private business and housing investment," the report said. Then, within that overall framework, the budget should be adjusted, from year to year, to meet short-term needs of the economy — deficits, or smaller surpluses, in periods of slack business, and larger surpluses in boom time.

Contracting companies are H. R. Bookstrom, water mains, $23,459.60; Dodson Brothers, paving, $46,346; and N. L. Cole, storm sewers, $38,660.

The bids by the three firms, all from Lincoln, are about $15,000 less than the engineering estimate.

June 15 Deadline Is Set For Work At Fairgrounds

A June 15 deadline has been set for completion of $108,000 worth of street, water and sewer improvements at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds.

Henry Brandt, manager of the State Fair, said construction will begin as soon as weather permits.

Council Suggests More Flexible Farm Controls

Washington (UPI) — The Council of Economic Advisers Friday urged adoption of a new, more flexible farm control system and a "reasonable" limit on federal payments to big farmers.

The council, in its annual report to President Nixon, said direct income supplement payments to farmers will be needed for some time to compensate for low income and to "smooth the adjustment" to a free market economy.

"Reasonable limits on payments to individuals, however, would help prevent the undue enrichment of large operators at public expense," the report added.

Administration farm officials included a proposed $110,000 limit on payments to big farmers — which now run to $1 million a year and higher in a few cases — in a draft of a proposed new omnibus farm bill this week.

The bill, which Agriculture Department officials reportedly had hoped to give to house farm leaders earlier this week, is still awaiting final review by White House officials, and informed sources said officials now hope to get it delivered to Capitol Hill next week.

The Council said farmers should move eventually to a free-market system in which output is controlled by market prices, not government restrictions. But since four decades of government control cannot be reversed overnight, the Council said, a gradual approach to withdrawal of government influence is needed.

The Council suggested a change in government controls from present limits on specific crop acreages to a new, more flexible plan in which only total land use would be restricted. This plan, already publicly advocated by administration farm officials, would give farmers more freedom in deciding how to use their land, the Council said.

The Council added that government price support loans should be set below market price levels so as not to interfere with normal commercial transactions.

PENETRATION

Drive the nail into the board... that is penetration! You may be sure it won't enter of its own accord. It must be driven with sufficient, well-concentrated, properly directed energy. It takes a real artisan to wield a hammer like that. It takes a genuine God to penetrate some of our lives the way He does, too. Jesus "hit the nail on the head" when he said, "There is a way that seemeth right, to a man, but the end thereof is the way of death." The Great Carpenter teaches us the fine art of living... how to flex the wrist to give the proper blow... to hold the tongue and protect a good name... to give a faithful witness and save a soul... to lose yourself in a cause infinitely bigger than yourself. Go to church Sunday and drive that nail straight and true. That's penetration!

Court: Minor May Legally Give Up Child For Adoption

By Associated Press
A girl in Nebraska may be a minor and still legally give written consent to give up for adoption her child, born out of wedlock, the State Supreme Court held Friday.

Courts generally have held that a relinquishment executed by a mother who is not of age is valid unless the statute contains a specific requirement as to the mother's age, the opinion noted.

The Nebraska law makes no reference to the mother's age. The position was taken as the court affirmed the Douglas County District Court in finding that a relinquishment executed by Candace Batt Schaffer when she was 17 years of age, giving up her two-day old child to the Nebraska Children's Home Society, was valid.

The Supreme Court said the record sustains the district court finding that no fraud, duress or undue influence affected the relinquishment. Instead, the record indicates the mother had a change of attitude long after the relinquishment was executed, the high court said.

The district court properly dismissed the suit, the opinion said.

Two other Supreme Court opinions Friday dealt with traffic accident damage suits. The Supreme Court concurred with the Keith County District Court in dismissing a suit brought by May Southern against Willis Shaw Frozen Express, Inc. A car driven by Mrs. Southern was in collision with a truck of the defendant firm on a bridge on U.S. Highway 30 near Brule June 21, 1964.

In an appeal from Cedar County, the district court was affirmed in part, and reversed in part, in a suit resulting from an Aug. 2, 1963 accident at a country road intersection south and east of Hartington.

George B. Sandrock was killed in the accident, and the administrator of his estate brought the damage suit against a group of defendants including Casper B. Meirose, driver of the car in which Sandrock was a passenger; Robert L. Taylor, driver of a milk tank truck involved in the accident, and the Cooperative Marketing Association of Laurel, for whom Taylor delivered milk.

A jury in district court returned a verdict of $46,712 against all the defendants.

The Supreme Court affirmed the judgment against Taylor and the Co-op, but dismissed the judgment as to Meirose on grounds any negligence of Meirose was less than gross negligence.

County Attorneys Must Be Paid Legal Minimum

By United Press International
Appointed county attorneys must be paid the full minimum salary set by law, just as if they were elected to the job, according to a ruling issued Friday by Attorney General Clarence Meyer.

In response to a question by Robert E. Roeder, attorney for Logan and McPherson Counties, Meyer said the law "makes no distinction" between appointed and elected county attorneys.

He said the purpose of this salary law was to set pay levels high enough to attract "the best possible public officer" for the job.

"If the statutory minimum could be disregarded, it is possible that a less qualified attorney might end up in the office than would be the case if the county had sought out candidates for the appointment on the basis of the full minimum salary," the attorney general's ruling said.

"Furthermore, a question of professional ethics well could arise, with attorneys, in effect, offering their services on a competitive bid basis."

God's Dime Falls Through Grating

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — When his daughter Sandy was small, Hilliard Singleton gave her 20 cents each Sunday.

One time was for the Sunday School collection plate; the other was for her own use.

One day, she dropped one of the coins and it rolled through a sidewalk grating.

"Oh God," said the child reverently, "there went your dime."

A Threesome of Friday Evening Brides

MRS. TERRENCE GRASMICK

On Friday evening, Jan. 30, the marriage of Miss Ann Elizabeth Sals, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sals of Schuyler, to Terrence Jon Grasmick, son of Mrs. C. Jerry Rauch and John Grasmick, both of Lincoln, was solemnized at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Schuyler. The lines of the 7 o'clock candlelight ceremony were read by the Rev. Robert J. Pierce, and Mrs. Ronald Cornett played the wedding music. Mrs. Lloyd Pospishil was the vocal soloist.

Floor-length frocks of purple crepe, fashioned in the Juliet mode, were worn by the attendants who were Miss Barbara Stein of Omaha, the maid of honor; and bridesmaids Miss Kathy Stenby of Minneapolis, Minn.; Miss Peggy Johnson of Harrington, Ill.; and Miss Jeannie Sals. Their medley bouquets were of pink roses, pale pink carnations and purple statice.

David Jones of Seward served as best man, and the corps of ushers included James Pittinger, Jr., Larry Horejsi, both of Lincoln; Kiel Whitney of Falls City; Fred Sals and Charles Sals.

The bride chose a gown of white delustered satin with an all-over pattern of silver and crystal threaded embroidery, for her wedding. Designed in the princess mode the gown had a long-sleeved, sculptured bodice, fashioned with a jewel neckline, and the back fullness of the skirt extended into a brief train. A braid-trimmed postiche of the embroidered satin held in place her floor-length veil and she carried an Edwardian bouquet of white roses, white chrysanthemum petals and accents of purple statice.

Mr. Grasmick and his bride will reside at the Galaxie apartments in Lincoln.

The bride attended St. Olaf's College, Northfield, Minn., and now is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. Mr. Grasmick also is a senior at the University of Nebraska and is a member of Theta Xi fraternity of which he is a past president.

MRS. FREDERICK HORN

At a 7 o'clock ceremony on Friday evening, Jan. 30, the wedding of Miss Kathleen Humble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Humble, and Frederick Horn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Horn took place at the First Lutheran Church. The Rev. Dale Holt solemnized the service before a background of pink and red roses, and Mrs. David Pogge played the wedding music. Bry Curry was the vocalist soloist.

Chosen for the attendants, including Miss Paula Kokesch, the maid of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Maggie Fritz of Omaha and Miss Julie Bathel, wore A-line frocks of delustered satin, the rose tone pink for Miss Kokesch who carried pink roses, and pink for the bridesmaids whose bouquets were of deep red roses.

Dan Horn served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers included Dan Nelson of Bertrand, Warren Anthony of Malmo; Tom Ferneau and John Ferneau, both of Auburn.

The bride appeared in a gown of white delustered satin designed with a long-sleeved Empire bodice fashioned, with a modified cowl neckline, and a floor-length A-line skirt which was given slight fullness with a front inverted pleat, and which was completed with a chapel train. A coil of lace roses and pearls held to the head her tiered veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Mr. Horn and his bride will reside in Columbia, Mo.

The bride attended Lindenwood School in St. Charles, Mo., and the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Zeta sorority. Lux, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Lux of Roca, took place at 7:30 o'clock on Friday evening, Jan. 30, at St. Teresa's Church. Msgr. Mitchell M. Kaczmarek solemnized the ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. William Knowles. Miss Nancy Hobson was the vocal soloist.

Miss Connie Weygint, the maid of honor and only attendant, appeared in a floor-length frock of gold-toned velvet with which she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Dan Wheeler served as best man, and seating the guests were Kim Wheeler and James Penterman.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of satin, designed in the Empire mode. Lace contoured the neckline and cuffed the wrists of the long-sleeved bodice, and the lace was repeated to band the hemline of the skirt which was completed with a train. Her bouffant veil was shoulder length and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Mr. Lux and his bride will reside in Lincoln.

The bride is a former student at the Lincoln School of Commerce. Mr. Lux will be graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where he plans to attend the College of Law.

Junior League

The Lincoln Junior League has a meeting planned for 9:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning at the Lincoln Center Building. The program on drugs will be presented by Lt. Wayne Row, officer in charge of the state division of drug control, and Dr. Emmet Michael Kenney.

It's Suburban Hospitality

That oft-referred-to commodity known as "Midwestern hospitality" has received quite a workout of late due to the fact that entertaining has been high on the list of things to do for Lincoln's suburban residents. There may be a bit of truth to the idea that "friendliness is friendlier" in this part of the country; and, if rolling out the proverbial red carpet is like other endeavors wherein "practice makes perfect," we have a feeling that we know why the thesis is a valid one!

Host and hostess roles are being assumed by a number of suburban inhabitants this weekend and among those who will be kept busy with entertaining duties are Park Manor residents Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adams and sons, Steve, Jeff and Dave. Arriving today for a weekend visit with the Adams family will be Mr. and Mrs. Adams' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller and daughter, Chris, who make their home in Des Moines, Iowa.

Mrs. Adams tells us that the Miller family will be in Lincoln until Monday, during which time one-and-a-half-year-old Chris undoubtedly will be quite the center of attention.

Out-of-town visitors at the Lincoln Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Sommers are Mrs. Sommers' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Blakely and children, Rhonda, Stephen, Craig and Brenda of Carroll, Iowa. The Blakely family arrived in Lincoln Friday evening, and they will return to Iowa on Sunday.

A Change Of Time

Due to the fact that the number of contestants for the Metropolitan Opera auditions is far greater than anticipated it has become necessary to move the auditions up from 2 o'clock until 1 o'clock on Sunday, Feb. 1, at the Sheldon Gallery.

The three judges for the auditions will include Leo Kopp of Chicago, conductor of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra and director of the Omaha Civic Opera; George Howerton, dean of the School of Music at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Joseph Wilkins of Kansas City, Mo., a former leading coloratura with the Metropolitan Opera Co., and a member of the music faculty at the University of Kansas during the past several years.

During the auditions 27 contestants will be heard.

Lesson Topic

The February lesson for Lancaster County Home Extension Clubs will concern the "selection of wood furniture," and will include information on the types of wood used in the manufacture of furniture, construction methods, and the care of wood furniture.

Training sessions will be held Monday, Feb. 2, at 1:30 and 7:30 o'clock at Gateway Auditorium; Tuesday morning, Feb. 3, at 9:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Roland Wendelin of Martell, and Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Bennet elementary school lunchroom; Wednesday morning, Feb. 4, at 9:30 o'clock at the State Farm Insurance conference room, 5901 O St.; and Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Hill Hatchery community room.

Any interested homemaker is welcome to attend one of the training meetings.

MISS LINDA STEMPER

Of interest to town and campus circles this morning is the announcement made by Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Stemper of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Ann, to Stephen Douglas Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jensen of Wahoo.

The wedding is planned for Thursday, April 2, and the ceremony will take place at St. Paul Methodist Church.

Miss Stemper is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Phi Mu sorority, and of Alpha Lambda Delta honorary.

Mr. Jensen also is a junior at the University of Nebraska and his fraternity is Delta Upsilon.

Dr. and Mrs. Stemper made formal announcement of the engagement on Friday evening when they were host and hostess at a cocktail supper at their home. The guest list included the families and a small group of close friends.

Attractive Church Weddings

Arrangements of blue roses and white carnations appointed the chancel of the First Christian Church in Killeen, Tex., where the wedding of Miss Mary Margaret Geary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Geary, of Copperus Cove, Tex., and Norman Leroy Gesch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Gesch of Lincoln, took place on Friday evening, Jan. 30.

The attendants, including maid of honor Miss Pamela Jean Clarkson of Copperus Cove, and bridesmaids Miss Cheryl Lynn Gesch of Lincoln, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Linda Anderson of Copperus Cove, and bridesmatron Mrs. Michael Geary of Houston, Tex., wore alike, pastel blue frocks, in daytime length, which were touched with narrow bands of white lace at the neckline and the wrists of the Camelot sleeves. They carried nosegays of blue roses and white carnations.

Leroy Bean of Waterloo, Iowa, served as best man and the groomsmen and ushers included Patrick Crosby of Lincoln; Jon Geary, USN, San Diego, Calif.; Michael Geary of Houston, Tex., both brothers of the bride; Shannon Richards of Newkirk, Okla.; and Robert Cunningham of Wilsonville, Ill.

The bride chose a gown of white lace for her wedding. The long-sleeved bodice of lace over satin was smoothly fitted above the full, hoop skirt which lengthened into a train at the back. Her veil was held in place with a bandeau of satin bows and lace flowers and she carried a bouquet of blue roses and white carnations.

The bride attended Central Texas College on the Ft. Hood Military Reservation. Mr. Gesch has completed a tour of duty with the U.S. Navy.

'Goal-less-ness' Of Society Blamed In Drug Problem

By LINDA SULLIVAN
Star Staff Writer

Addressing the fourth annual Sigma Xi conference at the University of Nebraska Center Friday, Dr. Sidney Cohen of Washington, D.C. said that the "goal-less-ness" of our society is the primary cause of the drug problem.

"Traditionally, drugs were only to be found in the ghetto," Dr. Cohen said. "... we used to feel that if our children were secure, that is, affluent, this type of drug abuse would go away."

Cohen, director of the Division of Narcotic Addiction and Drug Abuse of the National Institute of Mental Health, proposed that living in a situation of affluence is a difficult thing and that it renders society's former goals inappropriate.

"Those of us who lived through the depression would be the first to admit that we were profoundly affected by it," he said. "It caused us to develop an exaggerated desire and dependence on material things."

Goals Outdated

He suggested that such impoverished times are beyond the conceptualization of today's affluent youth, and that these type of goals are now outdated but unreplicated.

"This goal-less-ness is as disturbing as the hopelessness of the ghetto," he continued.

Discussing the various arguments for drug use, Cohen stated that there are no tests which substantiate arguments that LSD or marijuana actually lead to greater creativity or feelings of self-identity.

"There is no doubt that LSD users often feel increased creativity," he said, "but this has never been demonstrated in objective tests administered after a trip in favorable testing conditions."

Cohen labeled a recent estimate of the country's drug addicts as 60,000 as ridiculous, noting that in a recent Harlem testing, more than 20,000 regular heroin users were revealed in a sampling of 58,000 people.

Education Only Way

In an earlier afternoon session, Dr. Emmet M. Kenney told conference participants that education may be the only effective way to effect solutions for the nation's drug problems.

The assistant professor at Nebraska's Psychiatric Institute added that society is not yet willing or ready to fund the type of program needed.

Peer group pressure, according to Kenney, is the most common explanation for drug experimentation among today's youth.

He stated that curiosity is usually the motive which ranks second among drug users, but that as a psychiatrist he encountered few "drug casualties" in this group.

A third motive, according to Kenney is "the use of drugs as a weapon in the evergoing conflict between youth and authority. It is in this category, he noted, that some of the country's brightest young people fall.

'Society Accepts Drug Use'

Looking at the problem of drug abuse from a sociological point of view, Ralph L. Blankenship, instructor in sociology at the University of Nebraska, told the group that "we are living in a society which not only accepts massive drug use, but pushes it."

He cited a television commercial which pictures children running across a field of grass and flowers singing "wipe out fever, wipe out pain" as an example of the type of reasoning which indicates our society's low tolerance for suffering, mental or physical.

Blankenship pointed out that the term drug "abuse" is unsatisfactory because it is only "use" which is unsatisfactory from a certain point of view.

"We ought to be able to identify with the drug abusers," he continued, "because we're all users of one type of drug or another... a drug user is not necessarily a villain."

Our society has made an economic market of drug trade Blankenship said, suggesting that legalization of drugs might bring them under legal control evidenced in other markets.

Legislation Discussed

Telling the audience that "whether I like it or not I represent the establishment," Judge Bartlett Boyles of the District Court in Lancaster County discussed drug legislation enacted in recent years.

According to Boyles, drug use in the 1960's has caused a violent reaction in the form of a mass of legislation, legislation which he added could only be termed "punitive."

"A large extent of the problem is directly related to laws, ordinances enacted entirely out of good will," he noted.

Users and possessors of marijuana and other drugs are very often judged felons and sentenced to five to ten years imprisonment, he said, adding that in eight states selling, dealing or transporting drugs can merit the death penalty.

"The laws are too rigid, too severe, and almost impossible to enforce," Boyle said.

Not For Legalization

However, Boyle emphasized that he was not advocating legalization of marijuana or any other type of drug, explaining that since this is an urban society, when any drug, legal or illegal, reaches a point where it imposes a burden on another or can lead to the commission of a criminal act, the duty to make it unlawful results.

"Unfortunately, making it illegal does not make it solved," he added.

Fear of punishment is a crime deterrent, Judge Boyle stated, and is therefore aiding in the fight against drug abuse.

Damages Sought In 1968 Accident At 48th, Leighton

A $45,000 suit has been filed in Lancaster District Court by Elston Murphy against Bud Irons Excavating Co. in connection with a March 21, 1968, car-truck accident.

The plaintiff alleges that his wife received multiple injuries when the car in which she was riding was struck from the rear at 48th and Leighton by a truck owned by the defendant and operated by Herman Schmidt.

The plaintiff alleges negligence on the part of the defendant in that the driver of the truck did not maintain proper lookout or control of his vehicle and was following too closely, and that the driver didn't make effective use of his emergency brake.

According to the petition, Mrs. Murphy sustained back injuries, an injury to the right shoulder, and other injuries resulting in degeneration of the spine, nerves and muscles.

Engulfed In The Problem

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller appears to be swallowed up in a glass of water as he addresses the New York Water Pollution Assn. at the New York Hilton Hotel. Actually, it's a clever camera angle. Rockefeller said President Nixon's $10 billion to fight pollution isn't enough.

Briefs Seek To Overturn Order Hiking Land Values

Four similar briefs seeking to overturn an order of the State Board of Equalization increasing the land values in 28 counties were filed Friday with the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The appeals all stemmed from action by the state board Aug. 15 in line with findings by the state tax commissioner's office.

The suits ask that the orders be set aside and the orders of the county boards of equalization be reinstated.

The briefs, supporting legal action consolidated for appeal, were submitted under the names of various county attorneys but prepared by the Omaha law firm of McGrath, North, Nelson, Shkolnick & Dwyer.

Basically, the briefs maintain that the state board failed to make equal, uniform and "appropriate" assessment of valuations among the various counties as required by the state constitution and that the figures were set arbitrarily.

The methods used by the state board varied among the counties, the brief contended, and the board failed to explain the divergencies.

Assessed valuation equaled 35% of actual value in some counties but varied by as much as 11% less in other counties, the briefs said.

Additionally, the briefs contended that LB391, passed by the 1969 Legislature with the emergency clause, was unconstitutional in providing for intercounty equalization.

The four briefs represented consolidated suits that included:

—Gage, Adams, Phelps, Buffalo, Clay, Saline, Jefferson and Hitchcock counties.
—Sioux and Box Butte County and Wesley Hansen, a rural land owner in Lincoln County.
—Sarge, Wheeler, Boone, Nance, and Loup Counties, and Larry Schaffer and

He died Thursday of an apparent heart attack in Chicago.

FBI Checking Bank Breakin At Wauneta

Wauneta (P) — The FBI and local authorities Friday were investigating a burglary at the Wauneta Falls Bank in which an undisclosed amount of money was taken.

Burglars cut a hole in the roof and used an acetylene torch to get through the vault door early Friday. A torch had been stolen from a Wauneta hardware store in a breakin. Phone lines into the bank had been cut.

The breakin was discovered by Keith Sexton, cashier and vice president, when he opened the bank Friday morning.

President Wiley Green said the bank would be closed at least until Monday.

Work Force Up To 502 At G.I. Strike-Hit Plant

Grand Island (P) — The work force at the strike-troubled Cornhusker Army Ammunition Plant climbed to 502 with the start of the morning shift Friday, Plant Manager J. M. Higgins reported.

This compared with a normal shift of 1,314, and a work force of 455 on the comparable shift Thursday.

Higgins said returning employees are "union people who aren't members of the striking craft unions."

Higgins also reported that management had made contact with bargaining representatives of the striking unions and with federal mediators.

Dale Perkins, president of the non-striking union, Local 492 of the International Chemical Workers Union, said the union had issued no instructions to its members about the strike.

Ford Plant Charged With Air Pollution

Detroit (UPI) — Giant Ford Motor Co. — employer of thousands and maker of millions — was officially charged by Wayne County Friday with a crime punishable by a $100 fine.

The crime is air pollution.

Dearborn Municipal Judge Ralph B. Guy set the trial for April 17. The charge specifically alleges excessive smoke emission from coke ovens at the Rouge plant.

Mort Sterling, director of air pollution control for Detroit and Wayne County, expressed disappointment that Ford planned to fight the charge.

"Only last month," he said, "Henry Ford II (the Ford board chairman) dedicated the company to a program of eliminating pollution — in the air, water and on the land — in the shortest period of time."

Delaware Judge Sentences Man To Hang In April

Wilmington, Del. (UPI) — Delaware State Superior Court Judge Andrew Christie Friday sentenced Herbert Steigler, 38, a convicted arson murderer, to hang April 6 for his crime. If carried out, it will be the state's first hanging in 35 years.

Steigler was convicted in November of setting fire to a house in suburban Deerhurst where his six-year-old daughter and his wife's parents were staying. All three perished in the October, 1968, fire.

President To Seek Expansion Of ABM

Supreme Court overwhelmingly, Nixon said, dismissing as irrelevant a white supremacy speech Carswell made 22 years ago, and which the judge has renounced as offensive to him now.

—Said that in Middle East policy "we are neither pro-Arab nor pro-Israel, we are pro-peace."

—Said "we have done everything we think it is proper to do in an effort to help get relief to refugees and starving victims of the Nigerian civil war in the surrendered enclave of Biafra. If there are starving people there, he said, "it is of interest to get food to them," without concern for the politics of the situation.

Would Be Broadened

The President said his decision on ABM expansion involves area defense, which means the system would be broadened to intercept high above the atmosphere enemy missiles headed for U.S. targets.

The first phase of the system, not yet built, is designed to guard Minuteman offensive missile sites.

"It will be very important for the United States to have some kind of a defense so that nuclear blackmail could not be used against the United States or against those nations like the Philippines with which the United States is allied," he said.

Only Part Of It

Government sources indicated later that the Pentagon will ask Congress for enough funds to build only a portion of the 10 additional Safeguard sites in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Congressional battle lines over the ABM quickly re-formed when Nixon announced plans to expand it, but even some opponents agreed that the expansion is likely to be approved. Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee said he expects continued opposition but he said its major arguments were answered last year and its thrust will be diminished this time around.

Fulbright Unbending

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, agreed that expansion of the system designed to shoot down incoming enemy missiles is likely to be approved by Congress but he indicated his own opposition to it is as strong as ever.

4th Quarter For Chrysler Shows Loss

Detroit (P) — Chrysler Corp. reported Friday a net loss of $4.4 million for the fourth quarter of 1969 compared with earnings of $112.2 million for the same period in 1968.

For 1969 as a whole, the company said net earnings dropped 69.5% to $88.8 million from the $290.7 million recorded in 1968.

General Motors, the largest automaker, reported Thursday that its net earnings for 1969 dropped $21 million from the previous year despite record worldwide sales of $24.3 billion. Earnings dropped $86 million in the last three months alone, compared with the previous year.

Pius X Suffers Eighth Loss, Falling To Millard

'BOLTS' COMEBACK FAILS SHORT

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Sports Writer

Millard came from behind Friday night to down the Pius X Thunderbolts 68-63 on the 'Bolts home court.

At the end of the first quarter, Pius led the Indians 17-11 as the 'Bolts capitalized on wild passes thrown by Millard players as the Indians tried to use a fast break only to have it fall apart.

A controlled second quarter, however, saw the Indians leave with a 36-32 edge as Randy Miller came off the Millard bench and poured in seven points to rally the Indians.

The 'Bolts fought back by using a full court press in the last half of the third quarter but the steady shooting of Indian top scorer Chuck Wolatz who finished the game with 26 points, kept the Pius rally at a standstill.

Wolatz forced out from under the basket by the aggressive Pius team, calmly sunk hook shot after hook shot to make the difference in a five point lead, 51-46, at the end of the third quarter.

The hard-fighting Irish refused to give ground, however, and pulled to within two points of the Indians, 65-63, with 49 seconds left in the game, but saw their efforts go in vain as Dan McGovern fouled Bill Campbell on a lay-up attempt, then stood by to watch Campbell ignore the thundering crowd and calmly drop in two straight free throws to send the Indians ahead 67-63.

The 'Bolts kept fighting back and repeatedly stole the ball but then watched shot after shot bounce off the backboard and basket rim.

A final free throw by Wolatz put the icing on the cake as the Indians walked away 68-63 winners.

Free throws definitely hurt Pius as the Indians hit 24 from 31 attempts at the charity line and only allowed Pius players ten trips to the foul line where they connected on 70% of their attempts.

High point man for the Thunderbolts was Larry Jablonski with 18 followed closely by Jim Wilkinson, McGovern, and Dan McCabe each with 10.

Wolatz paced the Indians but was followed by Mike Andrews with 14, and Miller with 11.

Pius now holds a 2-8 record while Millard carries home an 11-4 record.

NU Swimmers Visit Cyclones Coaches Favor East In Mat Tournament

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

To hear the other coaches tell it, the champion of the Trans-Nebraska wrestling tournament, to be held at the East High Gym Saturday, is a foregone conclusion. The host Spartans are a shoo-in.

"If they'll send me the trophy, I'll be glad to accept it," East coach Jim Holecek says, "but it's not going to be that simple. There are a lot of top-notch wrestlers in the league."

Holecek's grapplers have won all of their dual meets against T-N competition, but the Spartan mat mentor said that "we especially had our hands full against both Lincoln High and Grand Island. And," he added, "we haven't met Northeast yet and they have some good boys."

East's top prospects for conference titles are John Lowe and Len Dickinson, who both own perfect 10-0 records.

Lowe, at 115 pounds, has 11 pins, while 155-pound Dickinson totals eight pins in his string.

"The real key in a multi-team match like this is squad depth," Holecek says. "Last year Lincoln High won the state title with only one individual champion. But they placed a lot of others in the finals. That's the kind of depth we hope we have this year."

Lincoln High coach Mel Simpson has one of those state meet finalists back in Charles Varland, considered the top 130-pound grappler in the state. Jim Simpson, Mike Klechka and Dennis Benson are other top point threats for the Links.

Southeast coach Gail Baum, who echoes the others by picking East for the title, adds that "Hastings appears to be a little weaker than the others, but it will be a real dogfight for all the places in between."

Southeast's top hopes will ride with 137-pound Chris Schupbach, defeated only in Omaha and sporting a 7-1 record. Joe Carr, who will drop from his normal 130 to the 123-pound class and 145-pound Larry Reigert.

"Steve Reichenbach will have a good chance at 98 pounds," Baum added, "depending on Northeast's Rod Orduña."

Orduña, the Rockets top title prospect, has been wrestling most of the season in the 107 pound class. He is considered a threat for statewide honors in either division.

"Each team has at least one or two really fine boys," Holecek says, naming North Platte's Nick Eloi and Grand Island's Leo Bigley, a pair of 123-pounders, as examples.

"Hastings has Ron Breckner, who gave Lowe his closest match before being decided 2-1," the East coach continued, "and Grand Island's Tom Luth hasn't been scored on all year at 165 pounds, and he'll be coming in this meet at 155, the same as Dickinson. That could prove interesting."

First round matches open at the East High Gym Saturday morning at 9 a.m., with the second round and wrestle-backs scheduled for 1 p.m. The finals will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Carlos Wins Millrose 60

New York (AP) — Long J. Carlos, true to his word, unleashed a furious finishing kick and won his first race ever in New York, taking the 60-yard dash at the 63rd annual Wanamaker Millrose games Friday night.

The 6-foot-2 Olympian, drafted by the pro football Philadelphia Eagles Wednesday, got off to a poor start but with five yards to go caught Ben Vaughn of Georgia Tech, going to his fifth straight indoor victory of the season.

Carlos, who shares the world record for the 60 at 5.9, was caught in 6.1 and drew loud applause from the near capacity Madison Square Garden crowd.

Marti Liquori, always a winner in New York, put on his patented finish kick capturing the mile run.

Liquori, coming from last place at the half-mile, took control with two of the 11-laps left and won by 15 yards in 4:02.6 over John Mason of the Pacific Track Club. Liquori, a junior, won all five of his races here in 1969, including the Wanamaker Mile here last year in 4:00.8. Mason was timed in 4:04.5.

Mayor Leahy Will Not Fire Chief Andersen

Omaha (AP) — Mayor Eugene Leahy responded to a recommendation from the Human Relations Board Friday with the comment that he has no intention of firing Police Chief Richard R. Andersen.

Leahy said he was "deeply disappointed that I find it necessary to respond" to the recommendation. Calling for Andersen's dismissal Thursday, the board said there is a need to improve relations between the police and the Negro community.

"At a time when a constructive approach is so desperately needed, the Human Relations Board has seen fit to act in a divisive manner," the mayor said.

Earnings Of Employees At Goodyear Up 23%

Employee earnings at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company's Lincoln plant increased by 23% to $13.5 million during 1969, plant manager D. R. Remigio announced Friday.

Average employment at the plant was 1,743 for 1969, an increase of 18% from 1968.

An additional $2,500 in suggestion awards was paid for 80 ideas submitted by employees.

Total production by the plant increased by 20% in 1969 and the plant was expanded by 150,000 square feet.

Remigio said that Goodyear purchased $4.9 million worth of goods and services from 307 firms within a 50-mile radius of Lincoln. The plant paid $270,000 in local taxes during 1969.

"Much of the progress we have made over the years can be attributed to the cooperation we have received from the community," Remigio said.

The Lincoln Goodyear plant is one of 55 domestic product facilities of Goodyear and is a supplier of power transmission belting and rubber hose to the automotive, construction, machinery and appliance industries.

New Plant At Aurora Will Employ Near 100

By DICK MEZZY
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Aurora — The Industrial Park here will have a new tenant this spring when Chief Industries, Inc., of Grand Island starts production lines working in a new mobile home manufacturing plant which is expected to employ about 100 people.

The structure housing the plant will cost an estimated $25,000 to build and cover some 50,000 square feet, according to Chief Industries president Virgil R. Eihusen.

Eihusen said the plant would be pre-engineered at the Grand Island plant and moved in sections to the Aurora location.

The new manufacturing plant is expected to add an additional $500,000 annual payroll for Aurora, Eihusen noted.

"Construction of the plant is expected to start immediately with completion slated for late spring," he said.

Named as plant manager was Denney Vick, a native of Minnesota who now resides in Grand Island. Vick has a background in mobile home construction.

Eihusen said the plant will begin by producing five mobile units per day with plenty of room for expansion as the demand grows.

The new division of Chief Industries, which has its home office in Grand Island, plans to manufacture low cost mobile homes in a variety of sizes and floor plans.

The product will be available in 12 and 14-foot single units and 24 and 28-foot double width units. Lengths will vary from 44 to 65 feet.

Chief Industries maintains plants in Iowa and Indiana and until now has manufactured grain bins, bulk feed tanks, and farm and commercial buildings.

'Blocks' Idea Urged In State Hospital Plan

The State Advisory Council on Hospital and Medical Facilities recommended Friday that when the 1971 state hospital plan is drawn up, it be based on state government's 26 "building blocks" concept.

For purposes of regional approaches to governmental problems, the Legislature has divided the state into 26 areas, commonly referred to as building blocks or planning regions.

The recommendation that these regional boundaries be considered in hospital planning will go to the State Health Board. The health board meets Feb. 9.

Heretofore the hospital plans have been based on needs in 30 service areas covering the entire state.

The state hospital plan, which provides the data on which federal Hill-Burton construction funds are allocated, is rewritten annually.

The council endorsed the application of Immanuel Lutheran Medical Center in Omaha for the state's $207,000 mental health construction funds, which must be committed by June 30. Immanuel plans to build an estimated $1.9 million comprehensive mental health center as part of its medical complex.

Dr. Robert Osborne, state mental health director, said it is possible that Immanuel may receive 50% federal funding for the project, thanks to federal allocations unused by other states in the Midwest.

Dow Industrials Lowest Since '63

New York (AP) — The stock market, in ill health for the whole week, took a turn for the worse Friday, sending the Dow Jones industrial average to its lowest level since President John F. Kennedy's assassination in 1963.

The Dow average, up nearly 4 points during a morning technical rally, lost 4.29 to 744.06, its lowest reading since Nov. 26, 1963, the first trading day after the assassination when the market closed at 743.52, up 32.03.

A significant market depressant continued to be the "bite that monetary restraints are having on the economy and money markets," commented Richard Scruggs, Goodbody & Co. analyst.

Hog Prices Are Steady 25c Lower

Omaha (AP) — Butcher hogs were steady to as much as 25 cents lower on the Omaha market Friday. The decline was on weights over 260 pounds.

Supplies were liberal for a Friday.

Lighter butchers ranged up to $29.00. With heaviest weights as low as $25.75. Sows hit the $23.50-$24.50 range.

Fed cattle were in light supply with prices firm to 25 cents higher. Choice steers brought $28.50 to $29.50. High choice heifers hit $28.50.

Beef cows were $20.50 to $21.50.

Slaughter lambs were too scarce for a market test.

Police, Blacks Caught Up In Circle Of Growing Mistrust In Urban Areas

By KEN NEUNDORF
Star Staff Writer

Police officers and the black community are caught up in a circle of continually growing mistrust in most large urban areas, a University of Nebraska psychologist told the final session of the 25th annual Lincoln police training school Friday.

"I can't say how it is in Lincoln — we have no data from here," said Dr. David Levine, chairman of NU's psychology department.

But, he said, in large cities where research has been conducted, the gap between police and black people has been getting wider.

More Crimes

Since more crimes are committed in black areas and since blacks are arrested more often than whites, police tend to concentrate heavily on black areas in an effort to prevent crime, Levine theorized.

Yet studies have shown that crime seems to increase with the number of officers in an area, he added.

Black people feel threatened by police and white policemen feel threatened by blacks, and in that kind of atmosphere, "isn't it likely that crime will take place?" Levine asked the officers.

Contact Suggested

"If we can't stop this circle of distrust," one officer asked, "how can we at least slow it down?"

"I don't have any answers," Levine replied, but he said a process of "contact hypothesis" has been suggested by psychologists.

The idea, he explained, is that if people have more contact with each other they begin to understand and reduce mistrust.

"This doesn't work all the time, however," he said. It works best between equals of different races and when the contact is without competition.

In Right Direction

Although he referred to a study that said black police officers have twice as hard a job in ghettos as white officers, Levine said he thought hiring "courageous, young officers" who are black would be a step in the right direction.

Levine said if police could retain their presence in black communities "without the threat" that blacks feel, tensions might ease.

"I don't understand what you mean," one officer said.

Look Formidable

"Well," said Levine, "you fellows look pretty formidable when you walk down the street with your clubs and guns and your belt with all kinds of pockets on it."

In England police carry no such equipment and "everybody knows there's less crime in England," he said.

"But I don't know if you'd want to go without your gun here," he added. "I don't even know if I'd want to go without it if I were a police officer."

New Educational Practices In Use In State Described

New educational practices being used in Nebraska schools are being described to some 60 representatives attending the annual state meeting of the North Central Association.

Methods of individualizing instruction are dominating the program on new designs for teaching elementary, junior high and senior high students.

The North Central Association is the regional accrediting agency for 19 states including Nebraska. Some 136 of the state's larger high schools are members of the association.

Three junior high schools in Omaha are applying for membership in North Central, and it is anticipated that the association's accreditation will be extended eventually into the elementary schools, according to State Council President Glen Shafer, director of approval and accreditation in the State Department of Education.

Dr. H. Vaughn Phelps, superintendent of the Westside Community Schools in Omaha, addressed a banquet meeting opening the two-day session Friday night.

On Saturday, Sister M. Pacis of Archbishop Ryan High School in Omaha, and Dr. Jean McGrew, principal of East High School, will describe performance curricula written specifically for students in the two schools. The continuous progress courses permit students to move through the course work at a rate according to their ability.

Mrs. Donald Alexander, elementary principal at Plainview, will report on teaching in the non-graded elementary school.

Bulk Shipment Of Idaho Potatoes Put Under Attack

Boise, Idaho (AP) — When a bill was introduced to allow shipment of Idaho potatoes in bulk form, a state lawmaker stormed to the rescue.

"It grieves me," said Rep. John Reardon, Boise Republican, "to see Idaho potatoes lose their identity."

He said bulk shipment might allow Idaho spuds to end up "in a smelly old freight car and pooled at the market with some scrappy potatoes from Arkansas or some other state."

The chairman of the committee that sponsored the bill said that under bulk shipment, the state's famed russets would get tender loving care in a air-conditioned, insulated freight cars.

Present state law limits out-of-state shipment to specified containers with the grade of potatoes clearly marked.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE
Here's How To Work It:
One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 4 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
